To
The Editor
Indian Journal of Medical Ethics

I am submitting a manuscript titled “Career pathway of a doctor and its possible impact on health care delivery” for possible publication in your journal. It is an original work of the author and it has not been published previously. I am the sole author of this manuscript and have contributed significantly and agree with the content of the manuscript.

In this manuscript, I have opined on the career choices that students make after joining medical college. I have then analyzed the possible impact of the choices they make on the healthcare delivery. I have also commented on the probable reasons for the mismatch and offered some broad solutions.

Thanking You,

Yours sincerely,

Dr. S. S. Prakash
Assistant Professor
Department of Biochemistry
Christian Medical College, Vellore
India
