Case reports are typically used to share new information experienced by one patient during his/her clinical care that may be useful for other physicians and members of a health care team. The patient may not have personal gains from participating in this and will not be entitled for any financial remunerations.

A case report may be published (in print and/or via internet dissemination) for others to read, and/or presented at a conference. The purpose of this case report is to inform other physicians about the different causes vomiting and nausea in cancer patients, identification of which may enable the clinicians to guide appropriate treatment. This will help them improve the symptom burden on their prospective patients.

Dr. Fernando is obligated to protect your privacy and not disclose your personal information (information about you and your health that identifies you as an individual e.g. name, date of birth, medical record number). When the case report is published or presented, your identity will not be disclosed.

Taking part in this case report is voluntary and you may choose not to take part or you may change your mind at any time. However, once the case report is written and published, it will not be possible for you to withdraw it. Your decision will not result in any penalty or loss of benefits to which you are entitled including the quality of care you receive.

Your signature below means that you have read the above information about this Case Report and have had a chance to ask questions to help you understand how your information will be used and that you give permission to Dr. GVMC Fernando to access information related to your disease, symptoms, investigations, managements etc. and to write and publish it as a case report.
