Dear Editor,

This is to confirm that the article entitled "How not to Talk about Euthanasia: A Lesson from India" submitted to the Indian Journal of Medical Ethics is original and has been authored by the undersigned.

The submission is not under consideration for publication in any other journal.

Details of sponsorship or relevant competing interests, financial or otherwise: Nothing to declare

I have read the terms and conditions of authorship of IJME and accept them.

I think my paper is suitable for publication in an ethics journal because: it deals with important questions about end-of-life care, and about the cessation of life-sustaining treatment and how that is to be distinguished from life-ending procedures. It also deals with how that distinction is dealt with in law, and – in this case – the way in which law can make important errors.
